Pres. Wilkinson Refuses Possible U. S. Court Bid

PRESIDENT Ernest L. Wilkinson has turned down a possible bid to the United States Supreme Court.

Saturday the Brigham Young University president requested that his name not be submitted to President Eisenhower for consideration for appointment to the nation's highest court to succeed Justice Stanley F. Reed.

"IT DOES not seem to me timely that I should have my friends recommend me for this appointment," he said.

Pres. Wilkinson said he appreciated the compliment extended him by senior Senator Arthur V. Watkins (R-Utah) in a newspaper interview last week when Watkins stated that he intended to present his (Wilkinson's) name for the appointment.

"This would be a great honor to any attorney in the country," he stated.

The BYU president said the recovery from his recent illness would permit and enable him to render full service to the court.

The responsibilities, though arduous and exacting, would be no more burdensome than his present ones of administering the complex affairs of a "great university which has doubled in enrollment during the last five years and which is certain to have much larger growth."

HE SAID he has now assumed the responsibilities of administering the school which has grown to become the largest church-related institution of higher learning in the United States.

"Nevertheless," said the president, "I have asked Senator Watkins not to present my name because of the responsibilities which I have undertaken as president of Brigham Young University and administrator of the school system of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints."

Italian Dinner Given By Coed In Order To Meet New Men

by Roger Larson
Daily Universe Writer

"WANTED: six fellows for Italian dinner Thursday night . . ."

Many Brigham Young University students read this personal want ad in the Thursday Daily Universe. Average comments (male) ran, "Wonder what the deal is?" "Must be some catch," or "Anything would be better than parsley palace."

As known to few, a compact personal biography can be compiled on the personal ad placers if they live on campus.

BY SKIMMING through the campus phone book armed with a phone number the names of people living at that number can be ascertained. Second, by checking with file cards in the information booth in the Smith Building, ages, majors and home towns can be found.

With names and other vital information known about the personal ad placers their pictures may be found by consulting the Banyan.

If the results of this simple checking procedure are favorable, the next stop is to call and arrange the dinner. Here chances begin to look dim.

THE GIRLS serving the Italian dinner report that calls started at about 6:30 a.m. on the day the ad appeared in the Daily Universe. They had the seven men who attended the dinner named by 6:40 a.m. Between 75 and 100 male Cougar students called.

The dinner referred to in the want ad rated as a complete success by the males who attended. Soup, spaghetti and a dessert of cake topped with a flaming cube of sugar were included on the menu.

DINNER WAS served in candlelight by two of the cute girls in Italian type playsuits. Jackie Gleason type music added to the atmosphere.

This experience points out that BYU coeds are becoming aware that food is the way to a man's heart is a new form of the old-fashioned tender trap.

Letter Committee Sends BYU News To 2,000 Alumni

Over 2,000 letters are sent every six weeks to the missionaries and servicemen who have attended Brigham Young University.

The Service Letter Committee of BYU, headed by Dr. T. Earl Pardoe, compiles information concerning school statistics, improvements, plans, major activities, sport results and general news. A special feature concerns the results of the "affairs of the heart." Write-ups on special achievements of those in the mission field and in the service are also featured in these letters.

The four-page letter includes one pictorial page showing new queens, athletic events, school activities, new buildings and other items of interest.

The letters are sent to each mission president and LDS chaplain. One letter goes to each pair of missionaries, but if desired the letters will be sent out individually.

With the letters, inserts pertaining to AFROTC events and new graduates are sent.

Study Of Immunity To Radiatio Undertaken By Science Professo

DR. DAVID Donaldson, assistant professor of bacteriology at Brigham Young University, has been given a $16,900 two-year research contract to study the possibilities of an immunization against infection which follows atomic radiation.

The contract was awarded by the School of Aviation Medicine, U. S. Air Force.

Dr. Donaldson will study the effects of radiation and immunization upon the enzymes of phagocytes in the body. Phagocytes are body cells which engulf, kill and digest harmful bacteria which produce infection.

IT WOULD take about 50 phagocytes lined end to end to equal the thickness of a newspaper page.

Following the two atomic blasts over Japan it was found that once a person is subjected to high doses of radiation, the digestion process of the phagocytes which is controlled by enzymes, is greatly impaired. Harmful bacteria then multiply inside the phagocytes until they kill the cell and cause severe infection to the person.

DR. DONALDSON'S st will work toward, discover which enzymes decrease activ after they are subjected to ra ation. When this is accomplish he will attempt to discover this lack of phagocyte digesti can be countered by immuni tion. If this can be done, m of the radiation affects on man beings can be combated.

In research studies conduc at the University of Utah w Dr. Stanley Marcus, Dr. Dona son set the stage for this search by discovering that rad tion decreases and immuni tion increases phagocyte dig tion.

He has spent about four ye working with this problem radiation affects on anim During this project, which p only for expenses and help, will be assisted by Mrs. Beve Orton, research assistant.

'Thanks, Hoyt' Says Watts To DU Coach

by Jerry Cunningham

EXCERPT from a potential letter from Stan Watts to Hoyt Brawner: "Appreciate the kindly gesture, Hoyt. Will try to return the favor some day."

Only a week ago Utah and Montana were in second place, just two games behind league-leading BYU. But Brawner and his Denver charges knocked off the Utes and Silvertips to virtually clinch the title for Coach Watts and his Brighams.

THE ONLY race in the Skyline conference now is for second place. The cougars are perched majestically atop the league with a 9-1 record, Montana, Denver and Utah being tied for second place with 6-4 marks, three full games behind.

Only four tilts are left on each team's schedule.

BYU must lose every one of its remaining four games and a second-place team must win them all in order for the Brighams to lose the conference championship.

BYU can clinch at least a tie for the bunting with a single win; should the Cougars win two, they have the crown sewed up.

The league leaders scored when they needed to in whipping Colorado A & M 81-66 Friday and Wyoming 69-47 Saturday.

The Pioneers clipped Montana 55-53 in Denver Thursday and then throttled Utah's Milt Kane to win 64-59.

This week's schedule: Thursday: Utah State at Montana and BYU at Utah; Friday: Denver at Colorado A&M and New Mexico at Wyoming; Saturday: Utah State at Utah, Denver at Wyomiig, BYU at Montana and New Mexico at Colorado A&M.

That's Rich

by Rich Hall

It begins to look like a trip to Corvallis, Ore. and the NCAA Western Regional Playoffs, is in the offing for the Cougars.

The Brigham's double win this weekend over Colorado A&M and Wyoming, plus Denver's upset downing of both Montana and Utah, pretty well puts the Cats in the driver's seat as far as the conference race goes.

If the Cougars win two of the four games remaining on their schedule they have first place all sewed up. If Utah, Denver or Montana can win all of their remaining games, and the Cats drop three, a very unlikely event, then the race could end in a tie.

The loss of Tom Steinke for the Wyoming tilt at first looked like a black event for the Cats, but then reserve Mel Wilkes came out on the floor and, along with John Benson, led the way to a resounding victory over the Cowpokes.

Steinke, for those who haven't heard as yet, sprained his ankle in the first half of the Colorado A&M game Friday evening. The ankle didn't bother him until after the game when it had cooled down, then it began swelling. Steinke will be taking it easy the first part of the week, working his ankle slowly trying to get it in shape for Thursday's clash with the slipping Utes up north.

However, fans, looking to Wilkes efforts of Saturday night, are not as shook over the possible loss of Steinke as they were Saturday afternoon.

Steinke will definitely be needed by the Cats to bolster their chances for a win at Utah, but his loss will not mean a lopsided debacle handed the Brighams by the Redskins.

The University of Denver ball club and Coach Hoyt Brawner, deserve a lot of credit for taking some of the pressure off the Cougars in the home stretch segment of the conference crown race.

Their wins over Montana and Utah in the same week loom as a trrific effort on the Pioneer's part, considering their season record to date, plus the predictions concerning them at the start of the year. And holding Milt Kane to 8 points deserves mention also. That also points up the interesting fact that as goes Kane, so goes Utah.

And to our "unbiased, neutral" sports writers on the Salt Lake papers may we say: "Nice try, but that's the way it goes!"

Utah Tilt Tickets Distribution Outlined

The tickets for the Brigham Young University-University of Utah basketball game at Salt Lake City Thursday night have been received and will be distributed Thursday morning at 6 a.m., according to Floyd Taylor, ticket manager.

The tickets will be given on a first come, first served basis Thursday morning, with not one being able to reserve them in advance.

Students are reminded that they will only be able to pick up one ticket apiece, no matter hay many activity cards they present at the ticket window. People planning on sitting together at the game must pick up their tickets together Thursday morning.

The game will be televised over KSL-TV Thursday evening.

IN IT GOES—Tom Steinke, of long shot fame, shows he can hit them up close too, as he drives for a two-pointer in the Cat-Ram tilt Friday night. BYU won the game 81-66.

Kittens Continue Winning Way Down Dugway, Hill AF Quints

by Jack Batchler

PACED BY Helm and Eaton, Coach Bob Bunker's much substituted Cougar Frosh easily put away the visiting Dugway Proving Grounds crew with 55 points to spare on Friday evening. The final tally was 95-40.

The win, which was the eighth straight for the Kittens was highlighted by the excellent floor play of guards Earl Doman and Jim Rice. Don Helm, the Frosh high man, tallied 18 points, while Valoy Eaton turned in an aggregate of 16.

UP UNTIL the end of the first quarter Dugway team was very much in the game, keeping pace with the Kittens 18-22.
